

SDG1 (No Poverty)

Graduation/completion targets for students who fall into the bottom 20% of household income group:

Every year, Misr University for Science and Technology provides several free scholarships that are announced and applied to by a committee formed by the university president and the vice president for student affairs and other members. Several free scholarships are given to each college throughout the study period if they maintain their academic level. In the academic year 2019-2020, total scholarships were 770 students: 210 Graduated scholars, and 560 active students .
