

3.3.5 : Mental health support.

The university has multiple psychological support units, one of which is central general for the whole university, and others are specific for each college.

The students carried out several awareness campaigns in the field of mental health. The students of the Faculty of Medicine made a simulation model of the World Health Organization, and presented many activities and awareness campaigns . Their last one was about mental health with so many speakers .

Where the College of Media supports student graduation projects that benefit the psychological and mental health of the community, and among the most important of these projects was the project of the film “You Are Not Alone” to support psychiatric patients and urge them to treatment, as well as a project on the autism film, which won first place in the Short Narrative Film Competition at the Sunrise Festival, There was also a student initiative to publicize the rights of people with special needs.

The students in the College of Media also launched a campaign of solidarity and cooperation in life to support mental and mental health in the community.
