

SDG1 (No Poverty)

Metrics and indicators

1.3 University anti-poverty programmes

1.3.2. Graduation/completion targets for students from the bottom two financial deciles (domestic)

Misr University for Science and Technology pays great attention to its financially unable students or those who are facing difficulties that prevent them from paying tuition fees through benefiting from the integrated system of social services provided to them by the Student Welfare Fund to facilitate and support them in paying tuition fees and treating psychological problems through various student support mechanisms.

The university is keen to provide and develop the means of support provided to students to overcome various obstacles that may hinder their university life and to reduce the economic and psychological burdens on students in need and their parents through the establishment of a specialized committee to provide the necessary financial support and care in addition to coordinating with the cultural attachés for supporting financially distressed international students.

In the academic year 2020-2021, the total number of the bottom two financial deciles was 1988 students. Graduated scholars approached 415 and active students (Not Graduated) reached 1573.
