

17.2.3 INTERNATIONAL COLLABORATION DATA GATHERING FOR SDG

Understanding the importance of gathering data for SDG, Misr University for Science and Technology has launched the Public Opinion Research and Survey Center. The Center helps to foster a culture where surveys are accepted, where participation is encouraged, and where the public's opinions on a variety of issues are known. One of the center's main goals is to accurately assess the university community's current level of environmental awareness so that the survey results can aid university decision-makers in implementing initiatives that will motivate the community to actively participate in protecting and preserving the environment in accordance with the UN's goals for sustainable development.

Misr University For science and Technology has a protocol of agreement with the Governmental agency The Central Agency for Public Mobilization and Statistics. The Central Agency for Public Mobilization and Statistics (CAPMAS), provides a package of statistics and data which covers all the economic activities, social characteristics, demographics, and environmental activity. The signed protocol provides cooperation in field surveys, data exchange, research, convening joint seminars and conferences.

Since Misr University for Science and Technology is a member of both The Association of Arab Universities and The Association of African Universities. This membership allows the universities to actively participate in the community surveys conducted by these organisations, such as the survey on the effects of the Corona pandemic on education. These surveys help to improve the academic environment for all universities and promote quality assurance and accreditation and support the sustainability development goals.
