

Graduate Specifications:

1. Proficiency in reading, writing, and speaking German.
2. Reading literature consciously gives the student the opportunity to learn about the most important writers and literary texts that represent different eras in the culture of the German language.
3. Understanding the distinctive characteristics of German literary texts and different literary currents and genres.
4. Translation of specialized texts (legal, political, scientific, economic, etc.) accurate, honest, and conscious translation from German to Arabic and vice versa.
5. Proficiency in the Arabic language in a way that enables him to translate from German to Arabic and vice versa.
6. Analysis of the structure, level, and functions of speech in the German language.
7. Positive interaction with other cultures while preserving its national cultural identity.
8. Proficiency in a second foreign language besides German.
9. Writing innovative scientific research and commitment to scientific honesty and research integrity.
10. Utilising modern computer applications and e-learning platforms.
11. Critical analysis, logical thinking, and creativity.
12. Employing knowledge to serve societal goals.
13. Reaching achievements on the personal and academic levels directed to serve the community.
14. Having an entrepreneurial spirit to contribute to the cultural development of his community.
15. Placing knowledge in an ethical framework aimed at serving humanity.
16. Linking different knowledge disciplines.
17. Having respect for the other and his culture and accept his different opinion.
18. Interaction in civilizational projects to support communication with educational, cultural and community institutions at home and abroad.
19. Awareness of one's important role in the dialogue of cultures.